

TOMMASO GALLI

Tommaso leads the Italian Marketing Science measurement team charged with driving good measurement, helping clients develop good marketing strategies, analyzing the ROI/value of every marketing investment, developing best practices and informing product development. The team works both locally and globally focusing on the whole measurement journey online and offline using both internal and external solutions with a range of Facebook Partners.